A MONTHLY COMMENTARY ON THE CANADIAN MOTION PICTURE SCENE

1971-72 YEAR BOOK

Canadian Motion Picture Industry

For over twenty years, Film Publications of Canada has produced an annual Year Book which has received the widest acclaim of all even remotely connected with the Motion Picture Industry. It is crammed full of facts and figures gleaned from the files of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics as well as information researched from individual operators in the various areas during the preceding year.

This Year Book has become an indispensable reference work, and is in constant demand and a source of vital up-to-date information not only to everyone in the business, but may be found on the shelves of Public Libraries, Schools and Universities, Daily Newspapers, Film Societies, Public Relations Firms and interested parties the world over.

This year we have changed the format somewhat, to make for easier and more interested reading, interspersing the statistical data with editorial content to help maintain the image of an important Industry magazine. We hope you like our presentation and are open to such constructive suggestions and criticisms as our readers may care to offer.

And, incidentally, there is no additional cost involved. It is now part and parcel of your annual subscription.

Enjoy it.

OUR BUSINESS by N.A. Taylor

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

In retrospect, the past twelve months have not been as prosperous for motion picture theatres, generally, in Canada, as could have been hoped for. We commonly attribute good business to the drawing power of certain attractions. On the other hand, when business is poor, we seek alibis. The first of these, of course, must be the state of our present "push-pull" economy—to which one must, today, add the uncertainties of the new American 10% surtax. There are predictions that this tax will increase our percentage of unemployed, which is already distressingly high. This must have an adverse effect at the box-office. We should not overlook, also, the enormous growth and use of colored TV sets. People without the resources to buy these, often rent them. In either case, they are spending dollars which might very well be used for other entertainment, such as visiting theatres.

The number of real box-office hits in the past year has been disappointingly small. Last summer, returns at the box-office were not great, and this year is, if anything, worse. Summer is the time when distributors normally seek to release films of particular attraction to the younger folk. The assumption is that, since they are out of school, and have more available free time, they will attend theatres to see films of their liking. Unfortunately, most of the attractions designed for this purpose, have flopped this summer. The only real hits, in point of fact, have been those which appeal to adults rather than children. Even drive-in business, which is generally considered to have its "big moment" at this season, has failed to measure up to previous years.

It is becoming increasingly evident that distribution must find a different and more flexible releasing pattern. The idea of withholding release of the so-called "goodies" until the summer, no longer makes too much sense. This was discussed at some length in last month's article.

A number of new theatres were opened across the country in the past twelve months, many of them of the multiple auditorium variety. Most of these were projected two or three years ago. The number of planned projects being planned today for the near future has diminished considerably. The high cost of building and of money mitigates the gamble on the part of the exhibitor of hundreds of thousands of dollars in either construction or long term rental guarantees, for any one particular project. New theatre construction, in the future, will likely fall into the pattern which is rapidly developing in the United States; that of multi small seating clusters of auditoria, operated with automation and a minimum of overhead.

On the production front, Canada would appear to have made enormous strides in the last twelve months. Under the aegis of the Canadian Film Development Corporation, it made a particularly strong presence felt at the Cannes Film Festival last May. There was no official entry, but approximately 30 films were shown out of competition at one of the local cinemas. A large delegation of Canadian producers, distributors and others interested in furthering Canadian feature films, attended the festival and most of them got their first taste of the "international buying and selling of films". There is a long road to travel before it will be possible to command the same respect in feature film production which the National Film Board has earned in the documentary field, over a period of years. However, the stage has now been reached at which people outside of our country do not tend to dismiss Canadian feature film production out of hand. Slowly but surely a presence is being created in the rest of the world. The ultimate goal of a permanent and continuing feature film production industry is still a long way off. Greater progress could be made if there were more help from the government and in better ways than presently exists. However, no one can any longer deny the possibility and potentiality, in Canada, of a viable motion picture feature film production industry.

Everybody concerned with our business must be interested, at all times, in what particular type of films people will pay to see. The public is not a monolith. Rather it is a collection of segments, each of which has views and tastes of considerable variance. It is now trite to say that we are no longer catering to "the masses". However, we must still be keenly aware that we are, indeed, catering to fragmented audiences; which is one of the very good reasons for small and multiple auditoria.

If there are such things as trends in motion

If there are such things as trends in motion pictures, we must understand that they can change rapidly. A time period of one or two years is not unusual between the conception of a motion picture idea and its ultimate showing to the public. Subsequently, what may have been a very good project on paper to begin with, may result in a dud at exhibition time. In the United States, today, leading circuits and independent exhibitors seem to want to shy away from films which are rated R and X by the MPAA. On the other hand, the track rating of those rated G and GP is not particularly good. Theatre owners and managers frequently receive complaints from disgruntled patrons who complain about the lack of family entertainment. Yet when attractions of this genre are presented, public response is generally lukewarm.

The wave of permissiveness in motion pictures, which seems to have engulfed our industry in the last couple of years, seems to be receding. However, it still requires "gutsy" content to interest a public which is becoming increasingly sophisticated and much more choosey. Word of mouth is still the best press agent in our business. It is important to get a good film launched in such manner, and in such theatre, that there is enough time for word of mouth to help do the selling. However, we will still always have films of lesser quality which can be sold to segments of the public by means of blitz exploitation campaigns.

The coming year bodes a period of continuing change—perhaps on an even more accelerated basis than in the past. Notwithstanding, our business will continue to rest on the foundation of good production and good showmanship. There are many wrongs to be corrected and many adjustments to be made. The coming twelve months promises to be a very interesting period.

Is six of one half a dozen of the other?

No. Because you're not just selling a soft drink. You're interested in service and selling-power, in equipment and prices. And if you need convincing, a talk with a Pepsi-Cola representative should do the trick. He has a soft drink programme that will fit your exact needs . . . and he'll probably save you money. He'll discuss your needs with you and help you keep your equipment in first-class condition with prompt and efficient service. Backing him up is a dynamic advertising program that maintains a steady demand for Pepsi. Call your local Pepsi representative today. It will be a profitable experience. Join the Pepsi profit team.

Boxoffice Statistics

During 1969, there were 1,428 motion picture theatres in Canada, including 1,157 regular theatres and 271 drive-in theatres. This represents a total increase of 19 over the 1968 figure of 1,409 (1,148 regular and 261 drive-in). Admission receipts (excluding taxes) increased 3.8% in 1969, from the $113,697,252 in 1968 to $118,020,089, while the number of paid admissions was down 7.2% from 97,188,785 to 90,226,070. The 3.8% growth rate in admission receipts is the smallest since 1962, when receipts decreased by 1.6%. Increases of 10.8%, 9.7% and 9.8% were reported for 1966, 1967 and 1968 respectively. Amusement taxes in 1969 totalled $8,518,554 compared to $8,199,630 in 1968.

The 2% drop in utilization is due both to fewer admissions (78,917,657 against 84,936,845) and to expanded capacity (491,508,292 against 482,093,822).

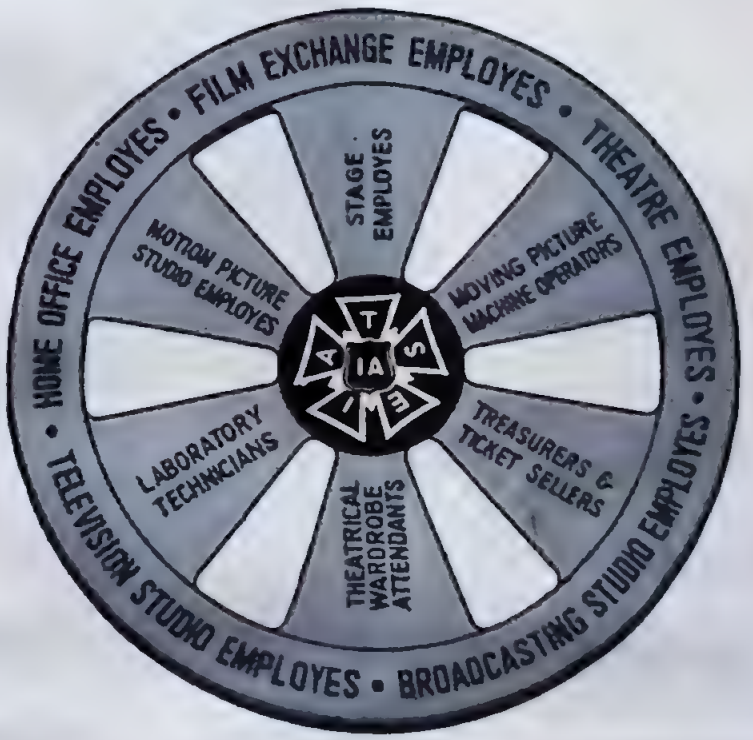
MR. EXHIBITOR:

On this emblem you will find the crafts we organize from coast to coast.

The full union theatre is the best theatre—attracting the most reliable projectionists, stage employes, cashiers, ushers, doormen, snack bar help and maintenance personnel.



The full union theatre is a great selling point. Build the good will of thousands of patrons. Run the I.A.-emblem film strip at each and every performance.

ADVERTISING RULES

Regulations for the use of Academy Award symbols and references to the Oscar-winning plays and players for advertising and exploitation purposes are:

No film or achievement which has not won an Academy Award may be advertised or exploited in a manner which will mislead the public and imply by design, layout or wording of copy, that the film or achievement has won the Academy Award.

Pictures nominated for specific Awards may be so advertised providing: that no reproduction of an Awards symbol is used; that the word "nominations" or the words "nominated for" appear in the same size, style and color of types as the words "Academy Award"; that the achievement for which the nomination has been voted is included in the advertising.

Honorary Awards which are conferred only by vote of the Academy Board of Governors must be clearly defined in all advertising as Honorary Awards and must specify the accomplishments for which the recognition was accorded. Honorary Awards shall not be so advertised or exploited that the public will confuse an Honorary Award with an Award voted by the Academy membership.

When an Honorary Award has been conferred for a technique or for a series of motion pictures, the Award symbol granted for that Honorary Award may be used in advertising such technique or series providing: that the year and accomplishment for which the Honorary Award was given is included in the advertising; that only the symbol presented for the technique or series is used, and not the statuette unless the statuette was the symbol so presented.

Academy Award symbols (statuette or plaque) may be used without special written permission only (a) To advertise the specific achievement for which the Award was given; (b) To refer to the presentation of the annual Academy Awards as an event; and (c) In connection with stories and articles referring to the Academy as an organization. Permission to use the Academy Award symbols for any other purposes whatsoever must be obtained in writing from the Academy.

CORRECTION

In our July issue we published a picture of Jack Bernstein flanked by Bill Soady and Ted Hulse. Erroneously we credited both with being members of 20th Century-Fox. We hasten to correct this unintentional error by stating that Bill Soady is still v.p. and General Sales Manager of Universal, and Ted Hulse is Toronto Branch Manager at Fox. Sorry fellows.

The Canadian production scene —(Cont'd)

Murray McLauchlan and Gene Martynec have been signed by producer Bennet Fode and director Don Shebib to compose the music score for RIP OFF, which recently completed filming here in Toronto. Don Scardino, Ralph Endersby, Mike Kukulewich, Peter Gross and Sue Helen Petrie are starred. Robert Carpenter was also signed for the title music and Rick Kardone for additional music. RIP OFF was half financed by the Canadian Film Development Corporation and half by Fode's Phoenix Film Productions Ltd. The colour film focuses on the identity crisis of suburban teenagers who comically are seduced into the pressures of the latest fads. It is the second feature length motion picture directed by Shebib, whose first feature, GOIN' DOWN THE ROAD, was adjudged best picture in the 1970 Canadian Film Awards.

MONTREAL OFFICE

1245 Sherbrooke Street West, Suite 1620.

Motion Picture Theatres throughout Canada have paid annual licence fees to CAPAC for more than 40 years. The right to charge music performance fees, on behalf of composers, authors, and music publishers, has been upheld by the courts. In a 1970 judgment, CAPAC was awarded an injunction and damages against a Saskatchewan exhibitor, for copyright infringements by both sound films and recordings in a drive-in theatre.

The licence fees which CAPAC may lawfully sue for or collect must be approved each year by a Board appointed by the Government of Canada—; an extract from the "Canada Gazette" showing the 1971 licence fees is as follows:

Tariff No. 4 — THEATRES

For a theatre licence covering operations at any time during the year, the annual fee is charged on seating capacity as follows:

Seats	Rate per Seat per Annum
499 seats and under	10 cents
500 to 799 seats	12 cents
800 to 1,599 seats	15 cents
1,600 seats and over	20 cents

Theatres operating three days or less per week shall pay one-half of the above rates.

Minimum fee, $10.

The seating capacity of Drive-In Theatres shall be three times the maximum number of automobiles which may be accommodated at any one time.

A licence obtained under this item of the tariff shall not be deemed to authorize any concert or stage show when the exhibition of one or more films is not an integral part of the programme. Concerts or stage shows in theatres not coming within the aforesaid classification shall be licensed under item No. 11 of the tariff.

A GREAT TRADITION

of Motion Picture Entertainment

Since 1906

The Innovative Circuit

THEATRE HOLDING CORPORATION

LIMITED

Since 1925 the Composers, Authors and Publishers Association of Canada Limited has served its composer, author and publisher members, the users of music in Canada and the Canadian public.

The protection of the property right inherent in musical compositions and lyrics in the performing right field can only be effectively accomplished through a central organization such as CAPAC.

The users of music benefit from CAPAC's administration inasmuch as without such an organization any user would have to clear thousands of musical works individually rather than through one central body and the expense of such individual clearance would far exceed the cost of a blanket license issued by CAPAC which authorizes the performance of any or all of some millions of works.

CAPAC distributes the fees it collects amongst composers, lyric writers and publishers whose works are performed in Canada without any deduction whatsoever other than the actual cost of overhead which is maintained at approximately 12%. In any given distribution payments are forwarded to Canadians as well as citizens of some thirty-two countries throughout the world and the Canadian members in turn receive payment from societies in these countries through CAPAC for performances of Canadian works abroad.

The Canadian public benefits as a result of CAPAC's existence inasmuch as the holders of the CAPAC license are able to present to music lovers throughout Canada selections from the world library of music without fear of infringing copyright.
